

DEADLINE EXTENDED!

Doctoral Program "Ethics and Responsible Leadership in Business"

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

The Wittenberg Center for Global Ethics (WCGE) hosts the international doctoral program "Ethics and Responsible Leadership in Business" (ERL). For admissions in October/November 2021, the program will award financed by the Karl Schlecht Foundation (KSG). The scholarships include a monthly living stipend of 1,350 € and research allowance of 100 €. In total, up to seven new members of the doctoral program will be accepted. Further candidates will be assisted with applying for other doctoral scholarships, for examples by putting them forward for doctoral scholarship by the Stiftung der Deutschen Wirtschaft (sdw). It is also possible to participate in the doctoral program without having a scholarship.

THREE DOCTORAL SCHOLARSHIPS

The program academically and financially supports doctoral candidates who develop scientifically well-founded and practically relevant answers to questions arising in the research areas of economic, corporate, and leadership ethics. It also gives them access to a broad scientific and professional network. The program is ideal for highly qualified, socially engaged, and globally thinking, active young scholars and practitioners from all over the world. For further information see: www.ethicsinbusiness.eu.

The application deadline is MAY 16, 2021.

Thematic Focus of the Program and the Scholarships

Business, corporate, and leadership ethics make up the research areas of the doctoral program. In particular, this program focusses on the framework for entrepreneurial value creation for the good of people, society, and the environment, on the responsibilities placed on companies and the social trust in companies and their decision makers, and on good leadership. For further information, see:
